Only copy known in MS. Society of Antiquaries.
* * * Particulars of these Proclamations are extracted from a Paper by the Earl of Crawford, &c., published in the "London Philatelist" for January, February and March, 1907.

26 Elizabeth. 14 January, 1583-84.

— [By the Privy Council.] Orders set down and allowed by the Lordes of her Maiesties privy Councell, and appointed to be put in Print for the Postes betwene London and the borders of Scotland.

London, C. Barker, [1583-84].

One folio Gothic letter.
Four copies known. British Museum, Bodleian, Queen's College, Oxford, Society of Antiquaries.

GREAT BRITAIN.—PROCLAMATIONS CONCERNING THE POST.

26 Elizabeth. 14 January, 1583-84.

The post riders had to have a commission appointing them, which was not transferable. He had to pay 1*½*d. a mile. Any one riding without commission paid 2*½*d. a mile.
Postmaster to keep a register of commissioned riders, and also of horses. If the riders come "too thicke" he may take up horses on a hire.
No man shall ride without a guide to blow a horn when entering a town, and also three times in each mile. Posts are to ride in summer (26th March to 27th September) seven miles an hour, the rest of the year five miles, so that from London to Berwick shall take forty-two hours and sixty respectively.
Only Queen's affairs properly signed to be sent post.
Any man carrying packets without leave to be imprisoned.

26 Elizabeth. 22 January, 1583-84.

— [By the Master of the Postes.] Articles set down by . . . Thomas Randolph, Esquire, Master and Controller General, etc., for the Postes from London to Scotland.

London, Ch. Barker, 22 January, 1583-[84].

One folio Gothic letter.
Three copies known. British Museum, Bodleian, Queen's College, Oxford.
Every postmaster three horses ready, three leather bags lined with cotton, and three horns to blow by the way. Every post to proceed within fifteen minutes of his arrival.
He shall also have four horses and two horns always ready for those who would ride post. No packets to be forwarded except by a servant of the post. No post to ride without a horn and the guide to carry the "mail," provided it weighs less than 40 lb. No private letters to be delivered before the Queen's packet is handed over, and no post rider is to open, break up, or "imbellish" any private packet.
The postmaster is responsible for the faults of his servants.

27 Elizabeth. 29 January, 1594-85.

— [By the Privy Council.] Orders . . . agreed and set down by . . . the Privy Council and Thomas Randolph . . . concerning the Postes established in Kent. . . . [London, Barker, 1584.]

One folio Gothic letter.
Three copies known. British Museum, Bodleian, Queen's College.
Every master shall have six horses ready, two for the packet, the others for affairs, with three horns, etc.
Books as to user to be kept.
All strangers of any nation entering or leaving the realm shall take his horses at 2*½*d. a stage, or "by Journey" two pence the mile. Englishmen to pay the accustomed price (1*½*d. a mile). The through posts of the merchants of Flanders and France, are to take horses from stage to stage.
The same rule as to speed as before.

33 Elizabeth. 26 April, 1691.

— By the Queen. (No general title.)
London, C. Barker, [1591].

One folio Gothic letter.
Five copies known. British Museum, Bodleian, Queen's College, Society of Antiquaries, Privy Council.
The effect of these orders was to put right certain abuses which had arisen in the working of the posts.

Directs that no person is to carry letters out of the kingdom except under authority. All "mails, bouques, & other carriages are to be searched".

This was probably a measure of protection against the companies of merchants of Flanders and France, who claimed the right of running their own letters by means of their own servants.

38 Elizabeth. 11/20 April, 1596.

— [By the Privy Council.] Letters . . . for the furnishing of horses in all towns where Posts are established. Directed to all Mayors, Sheriffs, Justices of the Peace, Bailiffs, Constables, etc. . . . The Lord-Lieut. of the Shire and his deputies to see to obedience.

London, Dep. of C. Barker, 1596.

One folio Gothic letter.
Five copies known. British Museum, Bodleian, Queen's College, Society of Antiquaries, Privy Council Office.
Orders that ten or twenty able horses shall be ready at each stage, ready for post. To be three six days by six days, to be paid for at post rates.

Also lists of all persons owning horses fit for posting are to be kept. Defaulters are to be reported to Mr. John Stanhope, Master of the Post.

GREAT BRITAIN.—PROCLAMATIONS CONCERNING THE POST.

1 James I. 8 April, 1603.

— [By the Privy Council.] To all Mayors, Sherifes . . . etc. and to all other King's officers and subjects. No place of printing but London, Barker, 1603.

One folio Gothic letter. Queen's College, Oxford. This was for the King's journey to England, and to provide well-furnished horses and carriages with good guides in the numbers to be signified by Rowland White, Court Postmaster, and Thomas Mylles, Paymaster of the Posts. This to apply to all towns through which the King is to pass on his journey south.

1 James I. [?] May, 1603.

— By the King. Orders for the thorow Posts and Carriers riding in Post in our Affairs.

London, R. Barker, 1603.

Two folios Gothic letter. Three editions were made of this proclamation — (a) Three copies known. British Museum, Society of Antiquaries, Barker.

(b) Two copies known. British Museum, Queen's College. (c) One copy known. Bibliotheca Lindesiana. All places where posts are laid for the Packet shall have the benefit of setting horses to all riding post. If carriers come in too fast for the provision of horses, the constable is to seize for them others. None shall ride on special commission without a signed pass. The charge for each horse is 24d. a mile, beside the "guide's grooms". Payments to be made in advance. A horse shall not be loaded with more than 30 lb. (of mail). Seven miles in summer (April to September), or six miles in winter.

1 James I. [] 1603.

— By the King. Orders for the Posts of our Realms and for all men to observe and obey in the speedy carriage of Packets directed for our Affairs.

London, R. Barker, 1603.

One folio Gothic letter. Two editions were printed of these orders — (a) Two copies known. British Museum, Barker. (b) Two copies known. British Museum, Queen's College. Repeals most of the former orders. The horns to be sounded now four times in several places. Careful register to be kept of the dates and time of arrival and despatch of all matter relative to His Majesty's affairs. All others are "to passe as bye letters". Speed to be seven and five miles, summer or winter. The posts and their attendants to be free from all prelate and attendants at assizes, sessions, inquests and musters.

Scottish. James VI. 5 May, 1603.

— By the Privy Council of Scotland. Ament the riding post to England. Edinburgh, ? ? 1603. No copy known. It is recorded in the Register of the Pr. C. (vi. 567) at Edinburgh.

6. James I. 1608.

— By the King. Orders for the Postes of our Realmes, and for all men to observe and obey. . . .

London, Robert Barker, 1608.

One folio Gothic letter. Only one copy known. Bibl. Lindes. This proclamation is a repetition of that issued in 1603 "according to the necessities of the times" renewed and published in our name. . . .

7 James I. 15 May, 1609.

— By the King. Forbidding the carriage of letters in and out of the Realme. London, R. Barker, 1609.

One folio Roman letter. Three copies known. British Museum, Queen's College, Barker. Although orders are that no one should carry posts in and out of the realm except under authority, yet it is being done by divers disavowed persons. The Lord Treasurer of England and the Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports are to give knowledge of this to all merchants and others. Suspected persons are to be searched and apprehended.

GREAT BRITAIN.—PROCLAMATIONS CONCERNING THE POST.

7 James I. 15 May, 1609.

— By the King. Orders to be observed within our county of Kent. London, R. Barker, 1609.

One folio Roman letter. One copy known. Queen's College, Oxford. Orders issued for the Security of the State by preventing intelligence among the disaffected and for H. M. Service. This proclamation was reissued in 1621, q. v.

13 James I. (. . .) 1615.

— By the King. Orders for the Postes of our Realmes and for all men to observe and obey. . . . London, R. Barker, 1615.

One folio Gothic letter. One copy known. Society of Antiquaries. This would seem to be one of the class of Stock Proclamations, or one that was issued annually usually early in April. It refers to the orders issued by Queen Elizabeth, and continued by James. There are no changes in the regulations set forth.

13 James I. 27 Jan. 1615-16.

— [By the Privy Council.] Against unauthorised carrying of foreign letters. . . . London, R. Barker, 1615-16.

One folio Roman letter. One copy known. Queen's College, Oxford. Cites the proclamation of 15 May, 1609. There are still difficulties from unauthorised persons carrying letters abroad. Matthew de Quester, the King's Foreign Postmaster, is to search for and apprehend any such offenders, and bring them before the Privy Council.

States that Lord Stanhope's grant is for the island posts.

GREAT BRITAIN.—PROCLAMATIONS CONCERNING THE POST.

1 Charles I. 14 January, 1625-26.

— [By the Privy Council.] Concerning the Foreign Posts.

(No place or date.) One folio Roman letter.

Two copies known. Public Record Office, Society of Antiquaries. Lord Stanhope had appointed Henry Billingsley as a messenger for the Company of Merchant Adventurers to carry foreign letters to and from Louisa. This order is to forbid Billingsley to meddle with the transporting of letters until the case at law between him and Matthew de Quester, Postmaster for Foreign Service, is settled and determined.

2 Charles I. 15 August, 1626.

— [By the Privy Council.] Concerning the Foreign Posts. (Billingsley.) London, Norton and Bill, 1626.

One folio Roman letter.

Two copies known. Public Record Office, Society of Antiquaries. Following on from the last. It has become known that Billingsley still takes letters by means of his servants, though ordered not to meddle with the foreign posts. He excuses himself that the order of the Privy Council of date 14 January last was made against himself personally, not against his servants! Orders are now issued against him, and also against Thomas Albertus, George Robins, William Eilam, William Scope, late servants and agents of the said Billingsley.

2 Charles I. 22 November, 1626.

— [By the Privy Council.] On the Foreign Posts.

No printed copy exists.

The effect of this order was to permit the Merchant Adventurers and other companies of merchants to send their letters and dispatches by messengers of their own.

3 Charles I. 24 October, 1627.

— [By the Privy Council.] On the Foreign Posts. London, Norton and Bill, 1627.

One folio Roman letter.

Two copies known. Public Record Office and Society of Antiquaries.

By this the privilege of sending letters by private messenger, granted by 22 November, 1626, is revoked, and the Merchant Adventurers only may send their own letters, and then solely to Hamburg and Delft.

The messenger may take no other letters, and may not wear any badge or sign of a postmaster.

All other letters are to be sent through Matthew de Quester.

In times of war or danger the messengers of the Merchant Adventurers are to be approved of by the Secretary of State, and letters are not to be sent without his sanction.

3 Charles I. 20 January, 1627-28.

— By the King. Confirming Matthew de Quester as Foreign Postmaster. London, Norton and Bill, 1627-28.

One folio Gothic letter.

One copy known. Public Record Office.

Cites the Proclamation James I., 27 January, 1615-16. Granting letters patent to M. de Quester as Postmaster for foreign posts. Notwithstanding the orders of Elizabeth and James, his privileges have been infringed upon.

No one is to collect or forward letters to foreign parts except Matthew de Quester or his servants.

The Lord Chamberlain, Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, and the Secretaries of State are to see that notice is duly given to the merchants.

Searchers and officers of the Customs are to arrest all persons unauthorized, carrying packets of letters out of or into the country.

8 Charles I. 19 July, 1632.

13 Charles I. 13 April, 1637.

— Confirming an agreement made between Witherings and Mons. Denouveau, Postmaster to the French king, and signed at Calais, 11 May, 1636. . . . That all letters from England to France shall pass by Dover, Calais, Bulleyn, Abbeville, and Amiens.

No copy of this proclamation is known to have survived in print.

13 Charles I. 22 June, 1637.

— By the King. Concerning the carrying . . . of letters. London, Barker and Bill, 1637.

Three folios Gothic letter.

Two copies known. Public Record Office, Privy Council Office.

Commences with notice of the agreement with France citing the last noted and missing proclamation.

In continuation declares that no letters are to leave the country by way of Rye and Diepe (Dieppe), or by any than the messengers of Witherings.

No person save the common carriers is to collect or carry letters. Rates are 2d., single; 4d., double letters; or 9d. the ounce to 80 miles; up to 140, 6d., 8d., or 9d. the ounce. Above 140, 6d., 12d., or 12d. the ounce.

For Ireland 9d., or 2s. 6d. the ounce. The mayors of all post towns and all justices are to assist Witherings in carrying out these orders.

In 1637.

— Lord Stanhope surrendered his Patent of Postmaster-General to the King, and His Majesty appointed Witherings to the vacant post, thus combining in one the offices of the Postmaster General, Inland and Foreign. I have not found any proclamation making this appointment, but it certainly must have existed.

GREAT BRITAIN.—PROCLAMATIONS CONCERNING THE POST.

16 Charles I. 6 August, 1640.

— By the King. Sequestering the Office of Postmaster-General and also of the Letter Office into the hands of Philip Burlamachi of London. . . .
London, Barker and Bill, 1640.

One folio Gothic letter.

Two copies known. British Museum and Bibl. Lindes. Withering having committed some misdemeanors, the King suspends him from his office during pleasure, and appoints Philip Burlamachi, a merchant of London, to fill post. Notices of this were set up on the Old Exchange, and other places.

But Withering's posted up copies of the former proclamations, and consequently still declares the former ones to be null and void.

Commonwealth. 30 March, 1653.

— By [by Council of State.] Confirming the Inland Postmaster.

No place or date. One folio Roman and Italian letter.

One copy known. British Museum. Edmund Prideaux, Attorney-General, is appointed to act for the Inland Post, with the assistance of the postmasters. This was in answer to a Petition, 24 March, 1652, from the postmasters of most of the towns, praying for confirmation in their employment.

Commonwealth. 2 September, 1654.

— Ordinance. Touching the Office of Postage of Letters.

Appoints John Manley, of London, to be Postmaster-General for postage and carriage of all letters and packets to and from all persons.

Speed to be seven miles per hour in summer and five in winter. This belongs to J. E. Hodgkin, Esq., and is noted in his Rariora, iii. 39.

Commonwealth. 21 August, 1655.

— Orders for the furtherance of our service as well for our packets and letters as for riding in post—England, Scotland, and Ireland.

12 Charles II. 16 January, 1660-1.

— By the King. For quieting the Postmaster-General. London, J. Bill, 1660.

Two folios Gothic letter.

Fifteen copies known. British Museum (four copies), Bodleian, Public Record Office, Dalkeith Palace, Advocates' Library, Queen's College (two copies), Public Record Office, Dublin, Trinity College, Dublin, Society of Antiquaries, and Bibl. Lindes.

States that Henry Bishop was appointed P.M.G. by Letters Patent (for a term of seven years, on a rent of £21,000 a year). Since the secret carriage of letters diminishes the revenue and encourages sedition, no person is to carry them without due licence from Bishop.

He and his servants are exempt from juries, inquests, etc. All mayors to aid him and to search for unauthorised letters and packets in the "males and bouges" of carriers.

Note.—1250 copies were printed, costing £15; 66 writs in the Crown Office, £22; messengers, £50; making a total of £87.

15 Charles II. 25 May, 1663.

— By the King. For encouragement of the Postmaster-General. . . .
London, Bill and Barker, 1663.

Three folios Gothic letter.

Seven copies known. British Museum (two), Public Record Office, Queen's College (two), Guildhall, Society of Antiquaries, Bibl. Lindes.

Bishop has resigned his office, and Daniel O'Neale is appointed P.M.G. All the usual privileges are granted to him and his servants.

But all postmasters and servants are to obtain from the Ordinary (the Bishop) a certificate that they are conformable to the discipline of the Church of England.

No postmaster is to open a letter except under warrant from a Secretary of State.

GREAT BRITAIN.—PROCLAMATIONS CONCERNING THE POST.

15 Charles II. ? 1663?

— A Broadside or advertisement printed by Daniel O'Neale, H.M. Postmaster-General. Giving the names of the postmasters and stages between Northampton and Sheffield, in Yorkshire, with the times occupied in transit.

One copy known. Public Record Office.

Probably there were many of these advertisements for different parts of the country, but no other has survived.

19 Charles II. 26 July, 1667.

— By the King. For Quieting the Postmaster-General. London, Bill and Barker.

Two folios Gothic letter.

Eleven copies known. British Museum (two), Public Record Office, Privy Council, Dalkeith Palace, Queen's College (two), Guildhall (two), and Bibl. Lindes. (two).

Daniel O'Neale died in July, 1665, but his lease did not expire till this year.

The King appointed Henry Lord Arlington, under the great seal with all the privileges as in the past.

The rent to be paid to the Crown is now £43,000 a year.

21 Charles II. 21 June, 1669.

— By the King. Enforcing the law as to the Post Office. Savoy, Bill and Barker, 1669.

Two folios Gothic letter.

Seven copies known. British Museum (two), Privy Council, Public Record Office, Queen's College (two), Bibl. Lindes.

In 1660 an Act of Parliament was passed settling the profits of the Post Office on H. R. H. James Duke of York.

Yet certain persons handle mail without authority, and thereby defraud the Revenue. . . . The Act is now codified. No post is to be carried except by license of the Postmaster-General.

No carrier, shipmaster, purser, etc., to carry letters except relating to their goods, and to be delivered with the goods. Shipmasters only to carry letters to the nearest stage office.

Correspondences will be established by 29th September next between all considerable market towns and the nearest post stages. A map is to be printed so that all may know how to address their letters.

No individual is to let horses for posting, unless the Postmaster-General fails to supply them in half an hour.

26 Charles II. 22 December, 1674.

— [By Privy Council, Scotland.] Concerning Foot Posts. Edinburgh, A. Anderson, 1674.

One folio Roman letter.

Only copy known. Register House (Edinburgh).

On 3 January John Graham, of Inchbrairie, was appointed Postmaster-General for Scotland, succeeding his father Patrick Graham.

In 1669 he had established a foot post to Inverness, and the authorised postage charges were—Under forty miles, single, 2s. Scots; double, 4s. Scots; per ounce, 5s. Under sixty miles, single, 3s. double, 6s.; ounce, 7s. 6d. Eighty miles or more, 4s.; double 8s.; ounce, 10s.; and so on.

These rates are to continue all over the kingdom. No one is to carry letters on any roads where his posts are established on pain of apprehension and fines.
