

having their own imprint at the end and their name and advertisements instead of those of Pemberton, Wilson and Co., or Theodor Duhl and Co. on the coloured paper wrappers. Nos. 119 and 120 were published together under the date "December, 1898". There is an illustrative slip supplement to the article "Japanese post cards" in no. 14, slip supplements to nos. 95, 106, 109, 171 and 204, a supplement consisting of "A catalogue of telegraph stamps, stamped forms, etc." to vols. x. and xi., and a supplement consisting of pages 5-12 of "A catalogue of the postage stamps, envelopes, etc. of the United Kingdom during the fifty years that have elapsed since their introduction." to no. 135. The latter catalogue was the former's completed and published in separate form by W. A. S. Westoby in 1891. A graphic chart of the Departmental stamps of South Australia was presented with no. 167. The first seven volumes, with the exception of a few odd numbers, were edited by Maxwell Burrett, while W. A. S. Westoby edited vols. viii.-xvii., omitting the eighteen numbers from vol. xii. no. 7 to vol. xiii. no. 12. Of these Edward B. Evans edited nos. 7-12, vol. xiii., and M. P. Cassie the twelve numbers of vol. xiii.

bound up with the "Philatelic times" of "British"

* * * Vol. I. has a title-page and an index and there is an index to each of the other volumes printed with the indexes to vols. II.-VI. of the "Philatelic Journal of Great Britain". Some, but not all, of the numbers for February, 1892, are wrongly numbered and dated "Vol. I. no. 1, January, 1892". There is no number for November, 1892, but nos. 11 and 12 were published together under the date "December 10, 1892". Page 60 of vol. V. is printed at the back of page 175 of the "Philatelic Journal of Great Britain". The journal was published as a supplement to the "Philatelic Journal of Great Britain" and after December, 1896, it was amalgamated and pagged with the latter.
