[2d SESSION.]

REMISSION OF DUTY.

COMMUNICATED TO THE SENATE, FEBRUARY 26, 1819.

Mr. EPFES, from the Committee on Finance, to whom has been referred the memorial of the select and common councils of Philadelphia, reported:

That the petitioners pray to be allowed to import, free from duty, cast-iron pipes, for the purpose of conveying water through the streets of the city. Your committee consider it as a general principle, which ought not to be departed from, that the revenue laws should be uniform in their operation and application to individuals and corporate bodies; and while they feel pleasure in expressing an opinion as to the importance of the object for which these iron pipes are to be employed, they consider that every relaxation in the application of the revenue system is a departure from that equal and exact justice which the citizens of a free country have a right to demand. How far a removal of duties on all iron pipes might affect the public interest, they are not at present prepared to decide. When, however, it is considered that one of the objects of the present tariff is the encouragement of domestic manufactures, of which iron castings constitute an important article, they consider it would be a departure from the principles of our present system to make the exception general. The following resolution is therefore submitted:

Resolved, That the prayer of the petition of the select and common councils of the city of Philadelphia ought not to be granted.

			-	2,372,574 31
Leaving outstanding, at the dates of the several returns from the land districts,			-	$1,909,576 81

3. Of the estimates of the public revenue and expenditures for the year 1820.

In presenting the estimates for the year 1820, it may be proper to observe, that, when the internal duties were repealed on the 31st of December, 1817, the permanent revenue, including those duties, was estimated at $24,525,000; whilst the annual authorized expenditure was ascertained to be less than $22,000,000. The repeal of the internal duties reduced the former to $22,025,000; whilst the payments from the Treasury, during the year 1818, exceeded $26,000,000; and those of the present year will probably fall but little short of $25,500,000.

In the annual report of the Treasury of the 21st of November, 1818, the receipts for the present year were estimated at $24,220,000. Although this estimate will be realized in its general result, deficiencies have been ascertained in the customs, the internal duties and direct tax, the bank dividends, and the postage of letters. The deficiency which has occurred in the customs, internal duties and direct taxes, will probably augment, in nearly the same degree, the receipts from those sources in the year 1820, by the payment of the revenue bonds, and of that portion of the internal duties and direct taxes which, if the accustomed punctuality had been observed, would have been received during the present year. But it is probable that the receipts of that year will be diminished, by the non-payment of bank dividends, and by the application of a portion of the proceeds of the public lands to the redemption of the outstanding Mississippi stock. The receipts for the year 1820, applicable to the ordinary and current demands upon the Treasury, may therefore be estimated at

	$22,000,000 00
Viz: Customs, - - - - -	$19,000,000
Public lands, - - - - -	2,000,000
Arrears of internal duties and direct tax, - - - - -	450,000
Second instalment due by United States Bank, - - - - -	500,000
Incidental receipts, - - - - -	50,000

Which, with the sum estimated to be in the Treasury on the 1st of January, 1820, $334,996 90

Make the aggregate amount of - - - - - $22,334,996 90

The estimates of the expenditure for the year 1820 are not yet complete; but it is ascertained, from those which have already been received, that a sum not less than $27,000,000 will be required for the service of that year. This deficit of nearly $5,000,000, resulting from the excess of expenditure beyond the receipts, cannot be supplied by any application of the ordinary revenue. After paying the interest and reimbursement of the public debt, and redeeming the remainder of the Louisiana stock, about $2,500,000 of the sinking fund will remain without application, if the price of the public stocks should continue above the prices at which the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund are authorized to purchase. During the years 1821, 1822, and 1823, the average sum of $5,000,000 of the sinking fund will also remain without application, if the price of the public stocks should prevent its purchase. Any application of that portion of the sinking fund, which, on account of the price of the public stock, may remain unemployed in the hands of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, to other branches of the public service, if allowable under the provisions of the act making the appropriation, would only postpone the period at which additional impositions would be required to meet the public expenditure. Such an application would also have the effect of ultimately retarding the redemption of the public debt.

It may be proper to add, that, although some of the items in the estimate for the ensuing year may be considered in their nature temporary, yet it is probable that the estimate for succeeding years will exceed rather than fall below it.

Under all the circumstances, it is respectfully submitted that the public interest requires that the revenue be augmented, or that the expenditure be diminished.

Should an increase of the revenue be deemed expedient, a portion of the deficit may be supplied by an addition to the duties now imposed upon various articles of foreign merchandise, and by a reasonable duty upon sales at public auction; but it is not probable that any modification of the existing tariff can supersede the necessity of resorting to internal taxation, if the expenditure is not diminished. Should Congress deem it expedient to modify the present rate of duties, with a view to afford that protection to our cotton, woollen, and iron manufactures, which is necessary to secure to them the domestic market, the necessity of resorting to a system of internal taxation will be augmented. It is believed that the present is a favorable moment for affording efficient protection to that increasing and important interest, if it can be done consistently with the general interest of the nation. The situation of the countries from whence our foreign manufactures have been principally drawn authorizes the expectation that, in the event of a monopoly of the home market being secured to our cotton and woollen manufactures, a considerable portion of the manufacturing skill and capital of those countries will be promptly transferred to the United States, and incorporated into the domestic capital of the Union. Should this expectation be realized, the disadvantages resulting from such a monopoly would quickly disappear. In the mean time, it is believed that a system of internal taxation would be severely felt by the great mass of our citizens.

Whether the revenue be augmented, or the expenditure be diminished, a loan to some extent will be necessary. The augmentation of the one, or the diminution of the other, cannot be effected in sufficient time to prevent this necessity. As the six per cent. stock of the United States is considerably above par, the sum required to be raised by loan can be conveniently and advantageously obtained by the sale of stock of that description; or it may be obtained by the issue of Treasury notes. If the revenue and expenditure shall be equalized, the issue of Treasury notes not bearing interest is recommended in preference to the creation or sale of stock, as the loan, in that event, will be small in amount and temporary in its nature.

All which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. CRAWFORD.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, December 10, 1819.
