CHAP. 17.—An act for the relief of Pattison and Caldwell.

Preamble.

Whereas, it is represented that in an attempt to extinguish the fire by which the distillery of Pattison and Caldwell, located at Hamilton, Ohio, was destroyed, water was thrown into, ran into, and become intermixed with certain distilled spirits then in the drawing-off cisterns in the cistern-room of said distillery; that by reason of said intermixture said spirits were reduced twenty degrees below proof; and that, under that provision of law by which a tax of ninety cents is imposed on each and every wine-gallon of distilled spirits when below proof said Pattison and Caldwell were required to pay, and did pay, internal-revenue taxes upon said spirits to the amount of five hundred and ten dollars and thirty cents in excess of the sum they would have been required to pay thereon had there been no such intermixture: Therefore,

Pattison and Caldwell.
Refund of tax to.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to pay to said Pattison and Caldwell so much, not exceeding five hundred and ten dollars and thirty cents, as it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue they have paid as internal-revenue taxes on said spirits in excess of what they would have been required to pay thereon had there been no such intermixture of water and reduction of proof.

Approved, January 3, 1887.

Jan. 3, 1887.

CHAP. 18.—An act for the relief of the survivors of the exploring steamer Jeannette, and the widows and children of those who perished in the retreat from the wreck of that vessel in the arctic seas.

Preamble.

Whereas, the steamer Jeannette, while engaged in an exploring expedition by authority of Congress and under the direction of the Secretary of the Navy, was wrecked in the arctic seas, on the thirteenth day of June, eighteen hundred and eighty-one, and in consequence thereof the lives of many of her officers and crew were lost; and

Whereas, a court of inquiry appointed in pursuance of a joint resolution of Congress to investigate the circumstances attending the loss of the said steamer Jeannette, and the general conduct and merits of all the officers and enlisted men of the expedition, reported, after a thorough investigation, that, while every officer and man so conducted himself that there was no occasion to impute censure to any member of the expedition, the constancy and endurance with which they met the hardships and dangers that beset them entitle them to great praise: Therefore,

Jeannette survivors.

Preamble.

Whereas, in conformity on an act of Congress approved March ninth, eighteen hundred and seventy-eight, certificate numbered twenty-five thousand six hundred and thirty-nine, for original-service pension, dated March sixth, eighteen hundred and eighty-three, was issued to Henry Owings, a private in Captain James Dudley's Company of Kentucky militia in the war of eighteen hundred and twelve; and Whereas said Henry Owings died December twenty-eighth, eighteen hundred and eighty-one, before said certificate was issued, leaving no estate whatever, and no widow or child under sixteen years of age: and

Whereas William J. Owings, of Randolph County, Missouri, a son of said Henry Owings, had the entire care and support of his father, the said Henry Owings, for ten years immediately preceding his death, he being then very old and enfeebled by age having died on the date aforesaid in his eighty-fourth year: and

Whereas under existing laws no money can be drawn on said pension-certificate except an amount sufficient to pay the expenses of the last sickness and burial of said deceased pensioner, a sum wholly inadequate to reimburse said William J. Owings for his support of the deceased pensioner in his old age: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Commissioner of Pensions is directed to pay to William J.
